Enel Distribución Perú Will Provide Payment Facilities to Customers

The company seeks to restore electricity to customers so that they improve their quality of life.

Lima, 16 November 2015 – With its customers in mind and within a framework of social responsibility, Enel Distribución Perú has launched a campaign to provide payment facilities to those customers that have accumulated debt for three or more months.

Taking into account that by the end of the year expenses increase, Enel Distribución Perú has made this campaign so that customers are given the opportunity to sign payment facilities agreements in November and December to settle debts and normalise its electric service.

“We do not seek to reward debtors, but to offer them payment methods so that they can have its service back and have access to a better quality of life”, said a representative of Enel Distribución Perú.

Customers who require further information can call Fonocliente at 517-1717.
